Abelard and Heloise are nearly as famous a pair of tragic lovers as the fictional Romeo and Juliet their shared passion for knowledge religious faith and one another sealed their destiny Abelard was a well-respected 12th century Parisian scholar and teacher and Heloise was his talented young student the two relate their story through a set of letters to one another and intimate acquaintances their ardor is unmistakable as Abelard writes to his love so intense were the fires of lust which bound me to you that i set those wretched obscene pleasures which we blush even to name above god as above myself this forbidden lust resulted in a pregnancy and secret marriage and when their union could no longer withstand the challenges in its path each lover sought refuge in the church abelard became a monk and heloise an abbess their correspondence continued as both achieved success in their new careers but continued to struggle with their feelings for one another the set of letters powerfully articulates the wide range of emotions they experienced so timeless is their love story that after eight centuries their passion their devotion and their struggle still resonate with readers peter abelard was born in the village of palais in britany he lived in the twelfth century in the reigns of louis the gross and louis the young his father s name was beranger a gentleman of a considerable and wealthy family he took care to give his children a liberal and pious education especially his eldest son peter on whom he endeavoured to bestow all possible improvements because there appeared in him an extraordinary vivacity of wit joined with sweetness of temper and all imaginable presages of a great man when he had made some advancement in learning he grew so fond of his books that lest affairs of the world might interrupt his proficiency in them he quitted his birthright to his younger brothers and applied himself entirely to the studies of philosophy and divinity of all the sciences to which he applied himself that which pleased him most and in which he made the greatest progress was logick he had a very subtile wit and was incessantly whetting it by disputes out of a restless ambition to be master of his weapons so that in a short time he gained the reputation of the greatest philosopher of his age and has always been esteemed the founder of what we call the learning of the schoolmen he finished his studies at paris where learning was then in a flourishing condition in this city he found that famous professor of philosophy william des champeaux and soon became his favourite scholar but this did not last long the professor was so hard put to it to answer the subtle objections of his new scholar that he grew uneasy with him the school soon run into parties the senior scholars transported with envy against abelard seconded their master s resentment all this served only to increase the young man s presumption who now thought himself sufficiently qualified to set up a school of his own for this purpose he chose an advantageous place which was the town of melun ten leagues from paris where the french court resided at that time champeaux did all that he could to hinder the erecting of this school but some of the great courtiers being his enemies the opposition he made to it only promoted the design of his rival
